AGENDA

This meeting will bring together military and industry stakeholders to discuss IDEAS-related research completed since IMAGE 2011, identify research needs, and shape the agenda for the coming year. The anticipated discussion will refine display system needs for air refueling training applications with a focus on stereopsis, collimation, and antialiasing requirements and metrics. Stakeholders are encouraged to describe additional requirement and metric needs for military training programs, and to identify other contemporary challenges that need to be addressed.
